Planning Board Told To Reconsider Approval Of Russell Development

As a result of neighbors' concern for traffic and safety, the Planning Board must reconsider its approval of the Russell estate development.

Following a lengthy hearing on the appeal by the Edgerstoune Association of the Planning Board's preliminary approval of the 82-acre subdivision, Township Committee voted 3-2 to remand the decision to the board. Mayor Winthrop S. Pike and Committeeman Richard Schoch, both Planning Board members, cast the two negative votes. Mayor Pike warned that the remand might not result in any different decision on the part of the Planning Board than the one it reached on May 17 after several nights of hearings.

Springland Associates of New York City proposes to develop the 82-acre tract off Route 206 and Edgerstoune Road into a clustered subdivision of 56 single family homes. Access would be from Route 206 as well as from Edgerstoune Road.

Concerned with the increase in traffic at peak hours, when the area has the additional impact of Hun School students and faculty arriving in cars, buses and on foot and bicycle, neighbors sought to limit access from the development to Edgerstoune to a single cul-de-sac of 13 houses connected by a fire lane only. Feeling that they "truly did not have the ear of the Planning Board," as one resident put it, and that their suggestions had not been given proper consideration led to the appeal.

Despite attempts by Committeeman William Cherry to have the remand include reconsideration of the application on several other grounds, such as interior road width and contributing

NO MORE HIROSHIMAS: And no more nuclear testing. Signs carried by a portion of 50-some demonstrators on Palmer Square Monday, the 39th anniversary of the dropping of the world's first atomic bomb on Hiroshima on August 6, 1945, make clear they do not want any more Hiroshimas — ever. The silent demonstration was organized by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament. Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Democratic Congressional candidate Peter Beerse spoke briefly after the demonstration. Future Is Cloudy for Fortune Teller, Arrested for Conning Three Women

A Bordentown Township fortune teller, whom Township police here described as "a known gypsy" who allegedly conned three women out of thousands of dollars and expensive jewelry, was arrested last Wednesday afternoon in Princeton.

Gina Taylor, 37, known as "Mrs. Gina," was arrested at 247 Witherspoon Street by Detectives David Wilbur and Jerry Offredo, Sgt. Frank Buccanuso and Ptl. Mark Emann. They were accompanied by Bordentown Township Sgt. Ronald Franks who identified Mrs. Taylor when she came to the door. The officers had three warrants from the Bordentown Township Police Department for the arrest of Mrs. Taylor, charging her with theft by deception.

During the arrest, Township police uncovered a small quantity of marijuana in Mrs. Taylor's apron and charged her with possession of less than 25 grams of the drug. Chief Anthony Pinelli said this week that the case is still under investigation by Township police.

Mrs. Taylor was later turned over to police in Bordentown Township where she is being held in $13,000 cash bail.

Mrs. Taylor is also known as Carol Elrino, Lisa Elrino and Carol Lupo, according to Township police. Her last known address is 253 Highway 130 in Bordentown. Her age, commented Chief Pinelli, has not been confirmed.

Information that she was living on Witherspoon Street came as a result of an ongoing investigation by Sgt. Franks.

Chief Pinelli said that Mrs. Taylor would tell her victims that they had an evil curse or evil spirits which she could rid them of for a large amount of money.

According to Sgt. Franks, one of Mrs. Taylor's victims was a 35-year-old Plainsboro resident who was in the process of a divorce. She was told there was a curse on her marriage. The victim told police later that she had visited

Route 92 Alignment Moving Ever Closer To Township Line

The long simmering feud between Princeton Township officials and the State Department of Transportation heated up again this week, as reports were received of another agreement between the DOT and a private developer that appeared — to Princeton officials — to encourage the eventual alignment of proposed Route 92 along the border between Princeton and Montgomery townships.

Princeton officials have been urging the alignment of the long-awaited bypass road along a path that was shown on an "alignment preservation" map drawn in 1972. That preserved route cuts through Montgomery, not Princeton.

Since then, however, the state has begun to consider other possible alignments, including one that straddles the line between the two neighboring townships but which would run through the Herrontown Woods-Autumn Hill Woods Nature Preserve, and require blasting through the Herrontown Ridge, and the condemnation of at least one Princeton Township House.

In an agreement with the DOT, the Larken Corporation has promised to sell — for as little as $1 — a portion of its land that lies within the so-called straddle alignment. In the meantime it has plans to build 88 townhouses on an 18-acre tract off Blue Spring Road in Montgomery. Those new houses will lie in the alignment shown in 1972 and, say Princeton officials, will serve to discourage the DOT from making that path its final choice for the proposed four-lane road.

Last month Princeton officials got wind of a similar arrangement made between the state department and Calton Homes. When the Princeton Screams For More Ice Cream?

It isn't necessary to be an "old-timer" to remember when the only place to get an ice cream cone in Princeton was Buxton's. Now, though Buxton's has gone, ice cream-aholics have been able to cool their palates with a panoply of flavors and a host of exotic blend-ins at the ever-popular Thomas Sweet, Haagen-Dazs, David's, Eaties — and there may even be some we missed.

Now there will be another. Come early fall, Frusen Gladje will open a gourmet ice cream shop at 33 Palmer Square, where The Prep Shop used to be.

The press release from Palmer Square promises "18 delectable flavors" plus flavorings that are all natural. The strawberries, we are told, are from Poland, the coffee from South America, and the chocolate imported from Holland.

to Mount Laurel obligations, the remand is solely on matters of traffic and sewers. Of Mr. Cherry's several proposed amendments to Committeewoman Gail Firestone's motion to remand, only the one calling for reconsideration of sewer approval was seconded by his colleagues.

Mr. Cherry said that the transcript showed that objections to the subdivision by Dwight O. North, who sought to call attention to the lack of capacity in a sewer system burdened with infiltration and inflow, were cut off by the Planning Board. But the applicant's attorneys Christopher Tarr and A.C. Reeves Hicks pointed out that the applicant had complied with all the proper procedures and obtained sewer allocation from the Sewer Operating Committee only after preliminary Planning Board approval in May.

Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmieder agreed that both the Planning Board and the SOC followed the correct procedures. "It may be that it is the process in the community for handling applications we're not happy with," he said, "but what the Planning Board voted was correct."

Committeeman Richard Schoch said that the SOC, of which he is a member, will make a mathematical equation on just what constitutes "sewer capacity." It is an issue that has arisen, not only in connection with the Russell estate development but also in other Planning Board approvals that have been called into question by citizens who are dissatisfied with the pace and scope of the current sewer rehabilitation program

In her original motion for remand, Committeewoman Gail Firestone asked that the Planning Board look at the plans of the residents concerning traffic circulation and reach an agreement between the developer and the residents. To that motion was added an amendment asking that the Planning Board also reconsider its conditional sewer approval. The amendment was voted 3-2, with Mayor Pike and Mr. Schoch voting no, as they did on the final vote.

During the course of the hearing, Mr. Hicks told Township Committee that if it decided to reverse the Planning Board's decision, the applicant would withdraw its proposed improvements to Route 206. With approval required from the state Department of Transportation, these include widening the highway road to include a left turning lane, more sensors in the pavement to activate the traffic light, and improved timing of the light to the benefit of the residents attempting to exit.

Mrs. Gina a total of four times. Mrs. Gina had convinced her that the curse on her marriage had been placed on her with a great deal of money and could only be removed with a great deal of money.

The victim recalled that "Fortunately, I was poor and could only come up with $50." But she also gave Mrs. Gina an antique diamond ring valued at $2,950.

Two other victims who surfaced in Sgt. Franks' investigation were a Fort Dix man and his wife, also experiencing marital turmoil, who visited Mrs. Gina four times and handed over $1,000,

Broadcast Repeated

This Sunday night at 8, the WHWH Sunday Night Pops Concert will present a repeat broadcast of excerpts from the award-winning performances of the Princeton High School Choir and Princeton High Orchestra in Vienna this summer.

The PHHS choir and orchestra spent 11 days in Europe and competed in the 13th annual International Youth and Music Festival. The choir tied for second place and the orchestra finished third.

The radio program will feature interviews with choir director William Trego and orchestra conductor Portia Sonnenfeld and portions of the competition as recorded in Vienna. WHWH president Herbert Hobler will serve as host.

and a 24-year-old Willingboro woman who was bilked of $3,000 and $6,400 in heirloom jewelry.

In each instance, Sgt. Franks said, the basic method of operation was the same: to rid the victim of evil spirits or a curse in exchange for large sums of money. Mrs. Gina would promise to perform some "black magic" rituals, get rid of the evil spirits and then return the victim's money. None of the money was ever returned, Sgt. Franks stated.

The break came when the victim in Plainsboro saw a flier advertising a Mrs. Tonya in Princeton which was almost identical to the one she had seen for Mrs. Gina.

She told her brother who went to the Witherspoon Street address. Although his Tarot cards were read by another woman, he observed one who perfectly matched Mrs. Gina's description. They turned the information over to Det. Franks, who sought the aid of Township police and the arrest followed.

NEVER AGAIN
Hiroshima Remembered
The 39th anniversary of the dropping of the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima was remembered Monday in Princeton by a silent group of demonstrators, most of them members of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament.

"We're here to commemorate Hiroshima and to say it should never happen again," said the Coalition's Becky Blank, the organizer of the demonstration.

Approximately 50 demonstrators, some carrying signs, stood in silence in a line that stretched across Palmer Square and the Palmer Square Plaza. Among them were Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund, Councilman John Hutton and Democratic Congressional candidate Peter Bearse.

Some of the signs read, "Hiroshima, August 6, 1945, 130,000 Dead, Never Again," "Let us learn from history--No More Hiroshimas," and "US-USSR Nuclear Freeze. No More Hiroshimas."

Near the end of the lunch-hour demonstration, the group assembled on the Palmer Square Island where Mayor Sigmund told them, "I'm here as a mayor and mother to pay homage. I'm also here in an expression of hope. We must stop the arms race."

Candidate Bearse, who will oppose Congressman Jim Courter in November in the race for the 12th Congressional District, also addressed the group briefly. "It's important to be here," he said, "not just for us but we're here for the human race."

Between speeches the group joined hands and sang, "I'm going to lay down my sword and shield down by the riverside..." and "We Shall Overcome."

Earlier, a spokesman for the Nuclear Coalition group told the gathering, "You may not know it but just 40 miles from Princeton at the Earle U.S. Naval Ammunition Depot in Freehold Township nuclear weapons are stored." He invited those present to participate in a demonstration that evening at the depot.

Then as the sun shone brightly the larger, Stop Nuclear Testing and Freeze The Arms Race signs were rolled up to be used again and the demonstration ended as quietly as it had begun.

NEW ROLES ASSUMED
In Township Police Department. A promotion and a new assignment in the Township police department became effective Tuesday.

Detective Jerry Offredo, the Township's juvenile officer, has been promoted to sergeant and will assume command of a patrol squad. His successor is Ptl. Peter J. Savalli.

Sgt. Offredo joined the department in October, 1967 and served as a patrol officer until August, 1978 when he was assigned to the juvenile bureau. He also served as the Township's crime prevention officer.

Sgt. Offredo is a resident of Herrontown Circle. His salary as sergeant will be $29,807.

Ptl. Savalli joined the department in July, 1971. With his appointment as juvenile officer, he will be transferred to the detective bureau.

BOROUGH RECYCLING
Is Still Alive. The seeming lack of interest on the part of carters in picking up the Borough's recycled trash has not dampened spirits.

Although there were no acceptable bids the two times the recycling contract had gone out to bid, interested parties are still pursuing the project.

A meeting date will be arranged later this week for Borough representatives and Rob McChesney (who battled for recycling while he was on Council) to meet with Monarch Recycling of Florence, the firm that has expressed interest in picking up the Borough's recycled newspapers and glass.

The Borough is now permitted to enter into direct negotiations with a carter since the bidding process proved fruitless. Monarch has already submitted a proposal as a basis for direct negotiations, and this will be discussed at the upcoming meeting.

One point has already been ironed out. Monarch has requested a facility to store materials until it has sufficient amounts to warrant trucking, and the Borough will most likely be able to provide such a facility.

Responding to the question of whether there is a poor market for recycled materials, Mr. McChesney said that the market for paper at the moment is excellent, with recyclers getting $40 to $60 a ton. The market for glass is weaker because the New York City mandatory recycling law for bottles is bringing in huge amounts of glass.

"However," he added, "the market fluctuates rapidly."

According to Mr. McChesney, if negotiations with Monarch don't work out and no one comes forward, the Borough may have to do its own recycling. "It's a critical problem. Glass and paper have to be taken out of the solid waste stream."

FACT FINDING BEGINS

On Overnight Parking. "We want to get a handle on the number of people eligible for and interested in overnight parking," was the way Councilman John Huntoon phrased the next step in efforts to draft an ordinance that would permit overnight parking in Princeton Borough.

At last week's meeting of the Citizens Liaison Committee on Overnight Parking, several items of concern were clarified, while others remain to be investigated.

Street sweeping, it appears, can be manageable, given certain conditions. These require that overnight parking be limited to ten or so streets, and that people who park on these streets agree to place their cars elsewhere on those nights that the streets are to be swept.

The proposed overnight parking ordinance, as outlined at a recent Borough Council meeting, would essentially create a pilot project restricted to 200 permits to be divided among six streets. If this scale prevails in future drafts, the ordinance would pose no street sweeping problems.

Right now, committee members are planning to survey certain streets to find out how many residents would be eligible for an overnight parking sticker (they must have neither a driveway nor a garage), where these eligible people live, and the number of spaces that actually exist on designated streets.

For example, on Moran Avenue there appears to be an equal number of eligible residents and spaces — about 20 each. However, the situation on Bank Street differs. There, a rough estimate shows about 24 eligible residents and only 16 on-street parking spaces.

The subject is expected to come up again before Council sometime after the end of August.

QUICK COMMITTEE

Light Agenda. If you want to arrange a municipal meeting that ends at a reasonable time, make sure to include the following elements: a light agenda, a hot room with no air conditioning, only three of five committee members present, and an attraction such as the Olympics beckoning those present back to their television sets.

Township Committee met Monday night under those circumstances and gavelled the public portion of its meeting to an end at 9:15. Committee then adjourned for a private discussion of litigation matters but that didn't last long either — the lights were out by 9:30.

Take a deep breath and follow the action:

Committee enacted an ordinance to permit outdoor dining at the Princeton Shopping Center (Roberta's and Dockside are among the eating establishments that may take advantage of this ordinance); approved the appointments of several police officers (see the photograph elsewhere in this issue); and postponed the memorialization of the Springland Associates appeal (because of the absence of Barbara Cantrell and William Cherry).

The governing body also applauded three homeowners who received credits for disconnecting illegal sump pump connections (Charles Heiberger of Longview Road, who received a $137.37 refund for his work, and Nicola Tamasi of Harris Road and Maureen F. Hoaglund of Ewing Street, each of whom received $200), and directed the refunding of nearly $13,000 worth of State Homestead rebates that had been held by the Township for property owners who had been in arrears in their tax payments.

Then Committee voted to extend the amount of time in which Perna's Auto Body could complete improvements to its property, accepted an audit of its 1983 financial statement; and granted a request for installation of a street light at the now dark intersection of Greenhouse Drive and Mercer Road (that's a street light, not a stop light, even though Committee acknowledged that some residents in that area might prefer the latter).

The longest single discussion of the night was devoted to a status report on Nassau Capital's Bouvant Drive development. The bottom line was that Nassau Capital had agreed with the Township engineer to a timetable for solving the lingering drainage and landscaping problems there, but residents were still unsure of their responsibility for what they consider to be a potentially hazardous retention basin in the area.

Time for Niceties. After dispatching with that issue, and hearing a report from the Township attorney on the continuing saga of the proposed Route 92 (see page 1), Mayor Winthrop Pike ran Committee through a two-item work session. They first discussed their vacation plans and determined that they would be capable of reaching a quorum for their remaining meetings of the summer. They then heard a proposal for reducing the speed limit, from 45 to 35, on a 1.2-mile stretch of Route 206 from Lovers Lane south to Breuere's Hill.

Committee even found time for a few niceties and a little historical perspective. Former Committeeman

Get That Dog License

The annual state-required dog census ends the end of August.

Township Dog Control Officer Roger Breese warns that any Township resident whose dog is found without a 1984 dog license will be issued a summons and be subject to a fine. Licenses may be obtained at the clerk's office in Township Hall. The basic fee is $7.50 and proof of a valid rabies certificate is required.

One of the purposes of the license, Mr. Breese explained, is to raise funds to support the rabies inoculation which is for the benefit and protection of everybody.

William Sutphin spoke up at the beginning of the meeting and complimented the governing body for its resolution documenting various efforts to include affordable housing in the Township. But he pointed out that the document overlooked Township Committee's own efforts on behalf of affordable housing.

Mayor Pike also took a moment — but not much more — to voice "deep regret" at the resignation of assistant administrator Douglas Bacher, who is leaving the Township to take a job in the private sector. May his meetings there be as short.

PEYTON PLANS SET

For Planners' Review. The proposal by Princeton architect M. David Giardino to develop the 130-acre Peyton Estate on Pretty Brook Road was scheduled to be heard at Tuesday night's meeting of the Regional Planning Board.

Mr. Giardino's plan already won a recommendation of approval from the Site Plan Review Advisory Board, but that board and the developer ran into disagreements over improvements recommended for Pretty Brook Road.

Mr. Giardino, of 149 Westcott Road, plans to purchase the entire estate, reserve a 22-acre tract for his own use, and then divide the remaining land into 27 lots of between 2.3 and 7.7 acres. He has requested a variance on storm water detention facilities, and exceptions to requirements dealing with the width of a private road, curbing, lighting, shade trees, and the angle of lot lines to the front street line.

In other items on the Planning Board agenda, Princeton Research Lands was scheduled to appear for its final subdivision approval for an office building at Poor Farm Road and Bunn Drive. The developer has maintained that the Planning Board already has exceeded the legal deadline for reviewing the case.

The other major item on the agenda was the proposal for modernization and general improvements being scheduled by the owners of the Princeton Shopping Center.

TWO DRIVERS CHARGED

With Drunken Driving. Two Princeton residents have been charged by Township police with driving while intoxicated and have been released, pending their appearance in Township court. Both incidents took place on Saturday.

At 3:10 in the morning, Ann M. Carroll, 66, 54 Murray Place, was observed by Ptl. Renn Kaminski and Officer David Glacken driving in an erratic manner on N. Harrison and Ewing Streets. The officers stopped her car on Mt. Lucas Road.

As they left their patrol car and approached the stopped car, Mrs. Carroll drove away and was stopped again on Mt. Lucas near Redding Circle. She was placed under arrest, charged and released.

Mrs. Roberta Brokaw, 67, 4674 Provinceline Road, was charged after her car got stuck off the side of Rosedale Road.

A resident of Rosedale called police at 10:04 in the evening to report a parked car with someone sitting inside. Ptl. Anthony Gaylord investigated and found Mrs. Brokaw sitting on the passenger's side with the driver's side door open and the car's interior filled with cigarette smoke. The door, police said, was smoldering.

Mrs. Brokaw was arrested after police ascertained she was the driver of the car and their investigation revealed that she was under the influence of alcohol. Police added that apparently a lit cigarette had been dropped down the interior of the door when Mrs. Brokaw got out and went to open the opposite door.

SIX ARE FINED
In Traffic Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

Scott A. Harman, 24 Berkshire Drive, Princeton Junction, was fined $350 and had his license revoked for six months for driving while intoxicated. Amy Caruso, 31 Linden Lane, paid $60 and Cynthia J. Lancelot, Pine Brae Drive, Skillman, paid $70 for speeding.

Others: Beatrice Guenther, 11 Dickinson Street, $25, no lights on bicycle; Alex J. Versfeld, 158 Spruce Street, $20, unregistered vehicle, and Frank C. Nichols, 889 Lawrenceville Road, $25, no license to operate a moped.

In Borough criminal court last week, Luther McKellar, 12 Lytle Street, paid three separate fines of $25 each and an additional $25 on each to the Violent Crime Compensation Board. He was charged with two counts of theft and with trespassing.

In a Township charge heard in Borough court, Carol Steinberg, 110 Linden Lane, was fined $65 and $25 to the VCCB for trespassing and the same two fines on a second charge of harassment. Katherine B. Nogare, 15 Charlton Street, was fined $50 and ordered to pay $25 to the VCCB for harassment.

Possession narcotic paraphernalia cost Cheryl Hoff, 25 Race Street, $50 and $25 to the VCCB, and Michele Hochman, 34 Cedar Lane, paid $25 for allowing her dog to run loose, a violation of a Borough ordinance.

Township Court. In Township court last week, Nicholas Baglivi, 179 Harrison Street, was fined $65 for failing to keep right and Raymond J. White, Old Trenton Road, Cranbury, paid $65 for careless driving. Barbara A. McNamara of Plainsboro was fined $75 for speeding.

GRANTS ARE ANNOUNCED
To Cultural Organizations. McCarter Theatre is the recipient of a $250,000 grant from the New Jersey Council of the Arts.

The award is one of several grants totalling $5.5 million that have been awarded to orchestras, theaters, dance companies and art centers throughout the state. They were announced at the annual meeting of the council last week and in several instances represent larger amounts than the recipient received last year.

Some 200 representatives of arts groups held a rally at the Trenton statehouse in May urging passage of a bill to restore $1 million cut from the state agency. The bill was signed recently by Governor Thomas H. Kean. The council received $2 million more than last year from the state and with federal funding has a budget of more than $6 million for this fiscal year.

The largesse was passed on to the grant recipients. McCarter received $100,000 more than last year and will use the funds as part of its long-range plans "to make McCarter more accessible to all the citizens of New Jersey" through group sales and bus-

Princeton Ballet received $100,000 $60,000 more than last year. The money will be used to acquire new ballets and hire more dancers, according to Judy Leviton, director.

The Princeton Art Museum will use its $20,000 grant, twice what it received last year, to computerize the museum inventory and general office functions. It will also go toward any additional expenses in a program that allows museums all over the country to share information on art collections through computers.

The highest award, $11 million, went to the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, as part of the council's special

$5 Chef cum Author Receives Grant of $3000; New Jersey Arts Council Announces Awards

Robert, the $5 chef, has come out of the kitchen — and into $3,000.

A year ago he was portrayed in the pages of Town Topics as a struggling writer, helping to make ends meet by inviting people into his house four nights a week for family-style dinners and lively conversation. He cooked the meals and the guests contributed the funds to pay his weekly supermarket bill. To keep bargain-hunting gourmards from banging down his apartment door, he preferred to be known simply as Robert, the $5 chef. Today his burdens have been eased somewhat. The New Jersey State Council on the Arts has granted him a $3,000 fellowship in literature. Robert, who suspended his $5 meal program earlier in the year after receiving polite inquiries from the Borough health department, now has no plans to resume them.

And he has no reason to conceal his identity. The $5 chef turns out to be Robert C. Welch of 219 Nassau Street and he is one of 12 area artists wearing broad smiles these days as a result of receiving cash awards from the State Arts Council. The council also announced awards of nearly $500,000 to 16 Mercer County arts organizations, including several in the Princeton area (see accompanying story).

In addition to Mr. Welch, a $3,000 award was received by Susan Weiner Reiman of 74 North Stanworth Lane, who was cited for her poetry.

Other Princeton artists won fellowships of $1,000. The winners included Karen Foote and Jane Teller, both in visual arts; Barbara Seid and Lore Lindenfeld, crafts; Jacquelyn Bonomo and Paul Joseph Moskowitz, literature; and Guelah Abrahams, dance.

Jean Hollander of Hopewell and Neil Shepard and Lawrence R. Harris, both of Lawrenceville, also won $1,000 prizes in literature.

project to draw national attention to the arts in the Garden State. The money will be used to strengthen the organization of the Symphony and enable it to tour not only in the state but also throughout the country. The grant was $600,000 more than it received last year.

The American Boychoir will receive $20,000 for 1984-85, a major increase over last year's $14,000. The Little Orchestra of Princeton received a $2,500 grant, its first from the state arts council.

A Long Short Story. Mr. Welch's award was based on a "fairly long" short story entitled Vincent. "It's kind of downbeat," said Mr. Welch, "about a doctor who's dying. It's not typical. I usually write comic stuff."

The submission is part of a longer work in progress, "a book-length prose work, using fictional techniques but not fiction," said Mr. Welch. All this work has appeared under a pseudonym, Salmon Ryder, which Mr. Welch said he employed to "keep my writing separate from my personal life." In real life, he added, he works for a lawyer, has lived in Princeton 15 years, and is divorced with two kids.

Will the $5 chef treat himself to dinner on the town? Probably not. "All the money has a name on it," he said. "I'll pay some debts and pay for one of the kids' orthodontia." But he will not resurrect the nightly dinner table. "There was more economic pressure on me before," he said. "I guess my lifestyle has changed a tiny bit."

"Some people call it wacky and some of it is pretty surreal," said Mrs. Reiman, Princeton's other $3,000 winner, of her poetry. "It seems to be freely associated but it all comes together at the end, sort of like me. I waited until I was 35 to have my first baby, and that was six weeks before I got the prize, so everything really is coming together. When I got the call I first thought it was another diaper service calling."

A part-time teacher of Hebrew at the Jewish Center, Mrs. Reiman also is a performing artist, who presents folk tales and some original stories. Her circle of friends includes Mr. Welch and, when her husband's work at the Plasma Physics Laboratory took him to Japan, she took several of her evening meals at the $5 chef's table.

What will she do with her money? "Pay babysitters so I have more time to write poetry," she said. "And maybe I'll buy a tape recorder so I can use my hands for diapering and nursing and use my voice for poetry."

Spend an Evening with Coye and Sondheim In Summer Theatre's Excellent 'Side-by-Side'

ANDREWS SISTERS? No, but a very reasonable facsimile offered by Cinny Strickland, Joanne Eppl and Norma Bowles (l to r) in Princeton Summer Theatre's production "Side by Side by Sondheim," directed by Dale Coye.

When Director Dale Coye invites you to be his guest for an evening of Stephen Sondheim's splendid music, you really should go over, you know. Dale keeps the house air-conditioned and dimly lit, so you can relax from the moment you get to your seat at Murray Dodge on the university campus. And he's got these four winsome friends who seem bound and determined to provide you with refreshing entertainment for the duration.

As a revue, "Side by Side by

News of The THEATRES

Sondheim" is always a pleasant surprise, because directors and casts make their own unique commentary and choose their favorite songs to round out the program. In this Summer Theatre production, Dale has put together a frankly funny and tender collection of both new and vintage Sondheim that he "manages" from his leather wingback chair stage right. He sings when he wishes, supplies us with fitting historical notes, joins the action when it suits him, and, in general, plays the ad libbing, genial, articulate host with delightful aplomb.

His side-by-sidekicks — Tom Beeze, Joanne Eppl, Cinny Strickland, and Norma Bowles — are just as eager to please, and most of the time they do. Tenor Beeze's rendition of "Maria" from West Side Story was a caressingly gentle offering, and he generates wonderful warmth in his other numbers.

The Three Stooges, as Dale with characteristic off-the-cuff affection introduces the women, are a most satisfying triple dip in their Andrews Sisters spoof, and as single scoops are delectable, too. Joanne Eppl is strong, quick, uproarious in "I'm Not Getting Married" (which was a great crowd pleaser) and just plain terrific every time she opens her mouth. Cinny Strickland is big-eyed, sophisticated, broadly funny and so sensitive (in "Send in the Clowns," especially). And Norma Bowles is fluttery, vulnerable, and hilarious as the madam in "I Never Do Anything Twice."

Kudos for Piano. Deft sight gags abound, lighting is extremely effective, and both stationary and mobile sets are perfect. Special kudos go to pianist Gregg Patrino who never misses, and plays with the kind of sensational competence that never calls attention to itself, but forms an absolutely dependable excellence for the singers to build on.

Each performer has some great moments and some weak ones — the show is not high-polish Hollywood — but in a way, that's its charm. As a guest in this talented household, you should not expect to be called on to perform yourself, of course, but on the other hand, keep in mind that you are part of a special little interlude which will never be experienced in quite the same way again. Because we are accustomed to the grand and faultless panoply of major stars parading through our own living rooms on TV, taped and miked and edited and choreographed to the limit, we may have forgotten the excitement and genuine pleasure in watching real flesh and blood people — with all their wonderful charms and flaws — devoting all their energies toward pleasing us.

Dale Coye's "Side by Side by Sondheim" is a cool little

"Sunshine Boys" a Marathon Laughter Event Following Dessert at Off-Broad Street Theatre

There's an Olympic event being held at the Off-Broad Street Theatre in Hopewell. Surprised? You thought everything was happening in L.A.?

The event is called Marathon Laughing. Scheduled right after the dessert course (vanilla mousse, apple strudel, blueberry cheesecake, and coffee or tea), it's no-holds-barred, no inhibitions, go-for-broke, yuck-it-up FUN. Everybody participates. Everybody wins.

Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys" is being presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights through September 1. Even if you've seen it before — and you probably did see George Burns and Walter Matthau in the movie — you've probably forgotten how hilarious it was. And besides, you haven't seen Neil Logan Ross as Willie Clark, the irascible, forgetful, crochety, lovable, infuriating vaudeville has-been, who is the star of this production.

Ross — with his brassy voice, his imposing white handlebar moustache, and his absolutely perfectionist sense of timing — is a first-rate performer. He almost makes you wish you had an Uncle Willie. But on second thought, maybe it's better just to appreciate him from the safety of your elegant table, and enjoy watching him shuffle around the stage in his fuzzy slippers and his blue pajamas with suit coat, sputtering and frothing like a dilapidated tea kettle on a high flame, making a basket case out of his nephew.

Speaking of nephew, Ben Clark is superbly and comfortably handled by Jody Roy Parker. Ben is a media product — you can easily picture him doing the six o'clock news — and that smooth, commercial, almost unflappably good-looking style is in perfect contrast to his uncle's bluster. Parker works the stage and his audience extremely well, and lets us see the obvious affection as well as the exasperation he feels toward the elder Clark.

Al Lewis is the other half of the Lewis and Clark vaudeville team (so named by Neil Simon, according to host Bob Thick, because the famous 19th century explorers had to depend on each other, but actually couldn't stand each other). Dapper, strait-jaced and straight-faced, teasing, needling and condescending, Lewis is Clark's nemesis. They can't live with each other, and they can't live without each other. Cornelius Redmond plays Lewis with wonderfully snide sharpness and a particularly deft and devilish way of twisting the knife, always ready for combat, always getting it. The two old friends — enemies handle their skirmishes and battles so well, we almost hate the thought they might patch up their differences.

The nurse (Mary Faldermeyer) in the revival sketch is quintessential vaudeville. Even seeing is not believing! The audience loved her. The registered nurse (Janet Cantore) is proper prudish-Irish with an earthy combination that just fits.

In making special mention of the fine set, which "sets" the appropriate one-step-before-flophouse tone, note must be made of the vintage movie portrait originals — Bogie, Ray Milland, Lucille Ball, Rita Hayworth and dozens of others — which decorate Willie's room. Donated by California illustrator Jeff Eckert from his personal collection, they enhance the decor.

Sure, there were a few technical problems and bobbled lines here and there, but nothing that a performance or two won't iron out. What I'm wondering about are the folks who have yet to participate in the marathon. We could have a whole slew of people still pounding that laugh track in September!

respite on a hot summer night, and spending the evening with him and his spirited friends could be just what you need. As Dale quipped on opening night, "I certainly appreciate your tearing yourself away from Greco-Roman Wrestling to be with us." Wouldn't have missed it for anything, Dale. Thanks. We had a really nice time.

EPIC ADVENTURES

On View at Kresge. A pair of epic adventures of "men with a mission" is the focus of Summer Cinema's current double feature, playing through Friday, August 10, at Kresge Auditorium, Washington Road.

They are John Huston's The Man Who Would Be King and Werner Herzog's Aguirre The Huston film is a Kiplingesque tall tale of courage, camaraderie, gallantry and greed set in 19th century India. It features Michael Caine and Sean Connery as a pair of old-fashioned adventurers and con artists, who, upon their discharge from the British army, decide to establish their own kingdom in remote Kafiristan (now part of Afghanistan).

The film was shot in Morocco and will be shown in its original widescreen version.

Herzog's Aguirre was the 1973 precursor to his 1982 epic Fitzcarraldo. Also shot in the remote Amazon jungles of Peru, it deals with Spanish Conquistadors searching in the Andes for the mythical El Dorado in 1560. When their expedition is stopped by mountains and jungle, an exploratory party is sent downriver on huge rafts to seek a way out.

The second-in-command (Klaus Kinski) thereupon foments a mutiny, declares himself the Emperor of El Dorado and proceeds to tyrannize what remains of the small band. In the end, only he, truly mad in the best tradition of Shakespeare's Richard III, is left on a raft covered with corpses. Like Fitzcarraldo, Aguirre is not just an adventure story but also a meditation upon history and an image of power run amok.

Coming Next. Two fascinating screen portrayals will be the focus of the next double bill, beginning Saturday, August 11, and running through Monday, August 13. Martin Scorsese's The King of Comedy features Robert De Niro as Rupert Pupkin, a 34-year-old messenger and struggling stand-up comic who wants to be a television talk-show host. He becomes obsessed with a Johnny Carson-type entertainer played by Jerry Lewis, and with the aid of a neurotic groupie (Sandra Bernhard), he kidnaps Lewis and holds him captive, while demanding a guest spot on his late-night TV show as ransom.

Talented, imitative, yet maniacally persistent, Rupert Pupkin is a man for whom immortality is a series of one-liners. King of Comedy starts at 7:30 Saturday through Monday.

The other feature, which starts at 9:30, is Richard Rush's The Stunt Man, which is both a satire on filmmakers and a moral tale about the perils of paranoia. Steve Railsback plays a fugitive on the run from police who stumbles upon a movie company on location. Its flamboyant director (Peter O'Toole) hires him to replace — and to impersonate — a stunt man accidentally killed during the filming of his bizarre World War I epic.

But since movie stunts are based on a mix of reality and illusion, not even the stunt man himself is told where one ends and the other begins. Director Rush keeps the audience in a state of suspense, never revealing more than the stunt man-fugitive himself knows and constantly changing the rules of his film as he shifts from melodrama to tragedy to farce.

Tickets for the double feature are $3.50 and may be purchased at the door of Kresge Auditorium. For more information call McCarter Theatre at 452-4242.

CONCERT SATURDAY
Free at Mercer County Park.

Folk musician Les Martin will present a free concert at 7 p.m. this Saturday at Mercer County Park, West Windsor. The performance is part of the "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Division during July and August.

Les Martin is an area singer, guitarist and songwriter who has made frequent appearances in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. His program includes both traditional old-time folk songs and several of his own compositions.

All "Music in the Park" performances will be held adjacent to the ice rink at Mercer County Park. Bring lawn chairs and blankets to sit on. In the event of rain, performances will be held inside the rink.

For further information and a complete schedule of upcoming concerts, contact the Cultural and Heritage Division weekdays at 989-6701. For information the day of the concert, call Mercer County Park at 586-8090.

TASTEFULLY HYATT.

Dinner at the Crystal Garden: clearly the tasteful alternative. An elegant meal in the Continental style awaits you tonight at Hyatt Regency Princeton.

For a special occasion. A welcome mid-week reward. A well-deserved night out of the house. Dine surrounded by green trees, sparkling fountains and gracious attendants who make your satisfaction their personal concern.

For reservations this evening, dial 609/987-1234.

Wish you were here

Route 92's 'One Problem.'

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The attached is a copy of a letter sent to Governor Kean.

Last year, I had occasion to write you about a situation which threatens severe adverse environmental damage to the community in which I live. This threat arose through the potential shifting of the location of a planned major highway, Route 92, from a "preserved" alignment long on the map in a totally uninhabited area, to a new alignment which would traverse an established neighborhood in an ecologically sensitive part of Princeton Township. This new alignment would take this highway through a Township park, cause the destruction of an existing home, and place the highway in close proximity to other existing homes. This potential shift in alignment was to be caused by the construction of a high-density housing complex which would be located on the original, "preserved" alignment.

There is general agreement that in addition to causing damage to the environment, the cost to construct this new highway would increase significantly, since except for the one which would be blasted through a major neighborhood ... through our diabase ridge for a considerable distance.

There have been a number of developments concerning the Route 92 alignment. One of the most promising of these was the identification by the Department of Transportation of another satisfactory alignment alternative, announced at a public hearing held earlier this year. This alternative would have the beneficial effects of avoiding Princeton Township, the established neighborhood in Princeton Township as well as the Township park, and would similarly bypass the housing complex already approved by the adjoining Township. It would also avoid the diabase ridge, thus avoiding a very major incremental cost. Certainly, then, this alignment alternative would seem to make great sense to pursue.

There is only one problem.

We have been informed by the Department of Transportation that the Environmental Impact Statement which will determine the alignment ultimately chosen will not be completed until some time in 1986. Since this is a highway financed largely with Federal funds, and since these funds cannot be committed until completion of the Environmental Impact Statement, we have been further informed that the land required to facilitate the most environmentally sensible alignment alternative cannot be acquired or otherwise preserved for at least two years.

And development continues to encroach upon this most preferable alignment alternative. There is very significant interest in developing the land that would be required for construction of this alternative. Any additional development in the area of this alignment would have the practical impact of foreclosing all alternatives ... increase significantly, since except for the one which would be blasted through a major neighborhood ... through our diabase ridge for a considerable distance.

As an example of this, we learned that held earlier this year. This alternative would have the beneficial effects of avoiding Princeton Township, the established neighborhood entered into an agreement with another developer which will facilitate the construction of housing in the path of all alignments currently being studied except for the most environmentally damaging and costly one mentioned earlier.

There is almost no chance that the land required to facilitate the most prudent alignment of this highway will still be available by 1986. If the Environmental Impact Statement is not completed until that time, we will have allowed a process which was created to protect the environment, to destroy it, in an area that can ill afford this.

Governor Kean, you have often voiced your thoughts toward the protection of our environment, which in New Jersey has so frequently been abused. You are also known for your thoughts on fiscal responsibility. Many of us support these worthwhile objectives. We have a chance to demonstrate respect for both of these goals if we move quickly toward acquiring the land required for the most prudent alignment of Route 92. We look for your leadership to accomplish this. You must have the Department of Transportation quickly complete the Environmental Impact Statement on the Herrontown Ridge section of Route 92, preferably within the next several months. And you must direct the Department of Transportation to acquire the necessary land now, even if this temporarily requires state funds, so that the most prudent alignment for this highway is protected from further development. You must help us protect our neighborhood and our Township park.

Picnic Appreciated.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The officers and members of the Princeton Senior Citizens Club wish to thank all those who had a part in the recent Seniors Picnic, held on the college campus.

This project, originated and largely funded by the Landau family, has become an annual affair which many of our elderly look forward to. A big hand also goes to Richard McCluskey who provides and dispenses the cooling beverages, and to those who furnish the entertainment.

No one enjoys the picnic more than the patients from the nursing home, who arrive by ambulance or some special type of motor coach. A thank you to those who provide this service.

The picnic provides a break in what sometimes becomes a long, hot summer and we all look forward to it again next year. Again, many thanks.

Thank You, Kay Bretnall.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I wish to express my gratitude to Kay Bretnall for the highly professional manner in which she served the community during the many years she was associated with TOWN TOPICS.

During the 20 years that I served the Princeton schools as an administrator, Mrs. Bretnall covered our happenings honestly and accurately. The children were, indeed, the benefactors. Through good times and bad times, it was always obvious that she really loved Princeton.

Thanks, Kay. Have a happy retirement. C'mon in, the water's fine!

REPRISAL?

Car Is Vandalized. In what may have been an act of reprisal, the car of a Herrontown Lane resident was vandalized between 11 and 11:30 Sunday night while it was parked at the corner of White Pine Lane and Roper Road. The car's antenna and rear license plate were bent and an obscene word scratched on the trunk.

The victim told police that she had been engaged in an altercation earlier that evening and police said the two events may have been related.

There was an apparent attempt to enter the car of a Hapewell resident while it was parked between noon and 1:30 Saturday at the Princeton Shopping Center. Police report that a rear window of the 1973 sedan had been broken and knocked off its track but that no entry had been gained.

In the Borough, police said that someone entered the Colonial Club on Prospect Avenue and wrote several obscene words in chalk on the top of a ping pong table in the basement. The words were erased and there was no damage. The entry was made between 12:30 and 8 Friday morning.

VISITOR'S CAR GUTTED

By Fire. A New York resident visiting Princeton Friday had to return home without her 1976 VW Dasher after it was destroyed by flames.

The victim told police she was driving up Alexander Street Friday afternoon when she noticed smoke entering the car from vents. She pulled into a lot when she saw flames and called police.

By the time firemen arrived, police said, the car was engulfed in flames. The victim told them that the car had recently been in a shop for repairs.

COURT CLOG CITED

In Drunk Driving Cases. The New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles is awarding a $300,000 grant to the State's Administrative Office of the Courts to eliminate the current drunk driving case backlogs by permitting additional court sessions at the municipal level.

"Our efforts at increased enforcement of the drunk driving laws have shown great success in decreasing the number of lives lost each year on New Jersey highways due to alcohol," Governor Thomas H. Kean said. "However, because of the stricter penalties and increased enforcement, more cases are being contested, and local courts have lacked both the time and the manpower to handle the cases in an appropriate period of time. The challenge to the validity of the breathalyzer last year also delayed the prosecution of many drunk driving cases, further increasing the backlogs."

In Princeton Borough 22 drunk driving cases are backlogged in municipal court and special sessions are held on the second and fourth Fridays to handle them. The Township thus far has escaped the backlog and only has one case pending. Statewide, as of March 1, there were approximately 11,000 driving-while-intoxicated cases pending in the municipal court system with a backlog of 6,050 cases. It is anticipated that 1,050 of these cases can be handled during regularly scheduled court sessions.

The remaining 5,000 cases will be eliminated over the next eight to nine months by scheduling additional court sessions and by the employment of temporary acting judges to sit at those sessions. Governor Kean said. A minimum of 714 extra sessions statewide will be necessary to eliminate those 5,000 cases, since an average of seven cases can be heard at each session.

The DMV grant will allow the Administrative Office of the Courts to reimburse the municipal courts for half the cost of each special session. The total cost of a special session is estimated at approximately $695.

The grant also contains $50,000 for the development of a standardized procedures manual for all municipal court clerks and for the development of an alcohol education program for all municipal judges.

MIDNIGHT GUSTO

Three Are Charged. Two area youths and a 22-year-old Blairstown resident were charged by Township police last week, after they were discovered drinking beer at 3:30 in the morning.

Ronald Rivera, 22, was issued a summons for purchasing alcohol for persons under the legal age. Jerry L. Ingram Jr., 19, of Ewing and Leslie Edwards, 18, of Meadow Road, West Windsor, were charged with illegal consumption of alcohol by minors.

Two Township officers were on routine patrol when they noticed a van parked off Mercer Road in the Princeton Battlefield lot, which is closed after dark. They located the three suspects on the lawn. When he saw the officers arrive, Rivera, police said, tried to hide something behind a tree and returned.

After the officers determined the three had been drinking beer, they were arrested, charged and later released.

Shooter Charged. Kenneth Green, 23, 21 Juniper Row, has been charged by Township police with possession of a weapon for unlawful purpose and possession of a weapon without an identification card.

Green was observed last week by Det. Jerry Offredo coming out of Juniper Row carrying an air rifle along his side and entering a patch of woods where he had been seen the day before.

Police had been looking for a person with an air rifle two days earlier, after a Kendall Park resident, soliciting in the Juniper Row area for Jehovah Witnesses, felt something strike him in the back. He told police he had heard the sound of a pellet gun and then felt a sting on his shoulder. He did not see anyone in the area at the time and went to police headquarters to report the incident. A search of the area was unsuccessful.

The next day, a resident of Princeton Community Village called police to report seeing a tall, black male wearing a blue jacket pointing a rifle from a small wooded area behind the apartments. Det.

Offredo responded and checked the area but could not locate the suspect.

The next morning at 9:30 as he was continuing the investigation, Det. Offredo observed the suspect and placed him under arrest.

CAR, TRUCK STOLEN

From Body Repair Shop. Thieves helped themselves to a "twofer" last week at the Harold Williams Body Shop, 873 State Road.

Police said that a 1968 rollback flatbed truck on which was secured a 1979 Olds Toronado 2-door sedan was stolen during a five-day period from a rear storage lot. Both the truck, valued at $9,000, and the $7,000 car were owned by the body shop, according to police who added that the ignition key had been left in the truck.

A new lawn mower valued at $150 was stolen last week from The Great Road.

Police report that two Township employees with three mowers were cutting grass on the Great Road near Pretty Brook. They had cut down to Winfield Road and had returned to the new mower which they had left behind when they discovered it missing.

A Trenton resident lost $25 when her wallet was stolen last week from a professional office at 33 State Road. It contained other items valued at $20. Police report that, a short time previously, a black male, 15 to 16, tall, thin and wearing glasses had been seen in the area.

Borough police listed the theft of a leather wallet valued at $15 from a counter in the United Jersey Bank on Nassau Street where the owner, a Stanworth Lane resident, had left it. He returned shortly after but it was gone. Police said the wallet contained credit cards and identification but no money.

An unlocked Schwinn 12-speed bicycle was stolen Thursday from in front of the Public Library. The Pennington owner listed its value at $281.95.

A child's orange and yellow "Big Wheel" tricycle was reported missing Sunday morning from a rear yard by the victim's father, a resident of Lytle Street. It was recovered Tuesday morning after the owner has observed it on Clay Street and called police.

ROOM IS LOOTED

In Ivy Club. An unlocked student's room in the Ivy Club on Prospect Avenue was entered last week, and two watches and three rings with a combined value of $660 were stolen. Included were a gold pocket watch, a Princeton University gold class ring and a signet ring.

A triple beam balance scale used to weigh dry chemicals was stolen last week from a locked room in Frick Lab off Washington Road on the university campus. Police said the scale, valued at $100, had been bolted to the top of the desk and the bolts had been cut by a hacksaw. It was taken overnight from Room 37.

A John Street resident told police Monday that someone had entered his locked room in a boarding house and departed with a key ring containing keys to his car, motorcycle and apartment. Also taken was a $270 portable stereo and a $60 camera.

The victim told police he is certain the room was locked and believes someone else has a key. There were no signs of forced entry and police say they have no suspects.

The rear door of a car was pried open last week while it was parked in front of the owner's home on Ewing Street. Police report that the interior was completely ransacked. Taken were items valued at $781, including a calculator, cassette recorder, tapes, radar detector, brief case and tennis racquet.

Between 7:30 Saturday night and 9:35 the next morning, while the occupant was inside, an intruder placed a lawn chair against the rear of a Great Road home to reach and remove a screen from an open window. Once inside, he took $20 from a purse in the living room.

FUND-RAISER SET
For Mayor Sigmund. The New York City comedy and improvisation group, Chicago City Limits, will "roast" Princeton Mayor Barbara Sigmund on Thursday, August 16. The group, New York's longest running comedy show, is noted for its humorous portrayals of well-known people.

Further information and tickets for the event, which includes a bus ride and gourmet dinner, are available through Mary Perone, 924-3741. Proceeds will be used to help retire Mayor Sigmund's 1982 campaign debt.

SALE PLANNED
By Eden Group. Project W.E.R.C., a work, education and resource center for adults with autism, will sell crafts, ceramics and woodworking items at Palmer Square on Wednesday, August 15, from 11 to 2 and Saturday, August 18 from 10 to 4. The items for sale have been created by participants in the project.

Project W.E.R.C. is part of the Princeton-based Eden Programs. It fosters the development of independent living skills and encourages social and emotional adjustment as responsible and contributing adult community members.

SMOKERS INVITED

news of the second deal reached Township Hall attorney Edwin W. Schmierer immediately transmitted a letter to the DOT's chief of project location, demanding to know the department's "latest position" with respect to preserving "all viable alignment alternatives." (See Mailbox for another letter on this issue.)

"This is essentially one more nail in the coffin," said Princeton Township Mayor Winthrop Pike at the Committee meeting Monday night. "What seems to be happening is that Montgomery Township and the DOT are busy putting housing in the area of the preserved alignment."

"Somehow we keep reading about all this," added Committee's Richard Schoch, "and we try to understand what the deal is. You just have to shake your head and wonder."

Though no official ever stated the theory, some of the wondering may center on the fact that the Transportation Commissioner, John Sheridan Jr., lives in Montgomery. Nonsense, say officials of the Transportation department. "There's a longstanding feud between Princeton and Montgomery," said Wayne Johnson, director of community involvement at the DOT. "It supercedes this issue."

Mr. Johnson said that, while the developers have offered to make the land along the Montgomery-Princeton border available if that route is chosen, "we have told them there are no guarantees. The buffer zone is nice to have if we come through there, but our final decision may be that we have to go ahead through one of their new developments." That prospect, Mr. Johnson claimed, is not one that frightens the DOT. "We have done it often in the past."

The proposed Route 92 would begin at Route 206 near Cherry Valley Road and run east about 1½ miles across (or under) Mount Lucas Road, River Road, the Delaware and Raritan Canal, Laurel Avenue in Kingston, Route 27, and then interchange with Route 1 near Ridge Road. From there it would connect eventually with Route 33 near Hightstown. The proposed four-lane road would require about 300 feet of right-of-way and, presumably, divert thousands of cars and trucks that now inch their way up Bayard Lane, down Nassau Street, and Washington Road every day.

Transportation officials expect to begin a series of public meetings this November to discuss the impact of the proposed alignments on a number of criteria. A public hearing on one preferred alignment could begin by late 1985. No one thinks the bulldozers will be unleashed before 1988.

"There's nothing sacred about any one alignment," said project manager Douglas Webb Still, as Mr. Johnson said, one factor that must be weighed in the final decision is a cost-benefit analysis.

Mr. Schmierer raised the Arts Festival Planned

On Saturday, September 15, the Princeton Shopping Center will host the Princeton Arts Festival. The event will feature a performance by the New Jersey Pops Orchestra, a juried invitational art show, and an authors' reception for area writers. The shopping center's Merchants Association is seeking published authors who would be interested in meeting the public on an informal basis.

The reception, jointly sponsored by Jordan's Card & Gift, Clancy-Paul Computer Store, Princeton Nautilus, and Titles Unlimited, is not a selling event. Rather it is an opportunity for the community to talk with talented writers.

For further information about participation in the author's reception, planned for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., call Caryn Fenton at 921-6234.

ART

MINIATURES SOUGHT

For Show. The Hopewell Frame Shop and Gallery is planning a multi-media theme show later this year to be entitled "Miniatures." The gallery is seeking original works of art with an image size no larger than eight by ten inches. There is no minimum size.

Media and subject matter are not restricted. The art work must be ready to hang. In the case of paper-borne art, the work must be under glass or plexiglass and be ready to hang with clips or frame.

Abigail L. Frantz, gallery owner, is hoping to have firm commitments from artists by the end of August and to begin taking in pieces for the show on November 1. The exhibit will run from November 13 to December 29.

Interested artists are asked to call Ms. Frantz at 466-0817.

EXHIBITS

Open now and running through Friday, August 17, Queenstown Gallery is presenting a photographic exhibition by Frank Simons. This exhibit of color photographic prints consists of three themes, one of which is "Lost Heritage," a look at lost history through the abandonment of potentially historic sites. Mr. Simons has recently shown work at the juried TAWA exhibit "Ellerslie Open III," and the Princeton Art Association's juried exhibit at McCarter Theatre.

Queenstown Gallery is located at Route 31 and West Delaware Avenue, across from the Pennington Market in Pennington. Gallery hours are 9:30 to 5:30 Monday through Friday, and until 4 p.m. Saturday.

Summer Show II will continue through September 6 at the Full House Gallery, 32 Main Street, Kingston. Mixed media artists represented are Joanne Augustine, William Brower, Anna Continos, Geri De Paoli, Helen Gallagher, Marcia Guthrie, Pat Lange, David Laschever, Marsden Morse, Kristin Naumann, and Diana L.W. Patton.

Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 to 5:30. For further information call 924-4040.

Art Masters Gallery, 44 Spring Street, will feature the work of photographer David G. Ritchey from August 3 through August 20. The exhibition will be from the Sergeant'sville photographer's portfolio, "Amid Summer Daydreams." The subjects in this show are gathered from photography trips throughout the United States.

Princeton-Based Woodrow Wilson Foundation Seeks to Improve Quality of College Teaching

What can be done to attract able young college graduates to become college-level teachers when employment prospects in education are bleak, and the glitter of law, medicine and business create a stampede for admission to the graduate schools granting the requisite degrees in those fields?

For that matter, how can teachers of humanities be bolstered when computer science, engineering and the natural sciences are viewed as having a greater value in preparation for the future?

In a town known for its educational institutions, there are foundations headquartered here whose sole purpose is to improve the quality of teaching and what is taught. One of these is the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. It is one of the oldest in town and one whose roots are quintessentially "Princeton."

The Foundation takes its name from the 13th president of Princeton University, the man who originated the preceptorial system on campus and recruited promising young teachers to be preceptors. It began in a modest way in 1945 under the aegis of Sir Hugh Taylor, dean of the Graduate School and a professor of chemistry, and Whitney (Mike) Oates, a classicist.

Incentive. They were concerned that young men getting out of the armed forces following World War II with technical training would not enter a life of teaching and scholarship. The purpose was to provide a carrot for the first year of graduate school in the humanities. Robert Goheen, a classics student under Prof. Oates, was one of the first four Fellows.

Richard W. Couper
Experienced Administrator

Dr. Goheen later served as director of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program in the 1950's before being named president of Princeton University. In 1982, after serving as Ambassador to India, he rejoined the organization, renamed Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, as head of its largest program.

Attracting the notice of the Carnegie Fund, the Woodrow Wilson Fellowships became a national program in 1952. In 1957, the year of sputnik, the Ford Foundation provided the first of numerous grants in the amount of $5 million a year in a greatly expanded effort to recruit outstanding students into college teaching.

Those were the fat years, lasting until 1971 when funding from the Ford Foundation ceased. During those years, fellowships were awarded at the rate of 1,000 a year to entice selected men and women to consider college teaching by subsidizing a year of graduate school. More than 80 percent did elect teaching, and today former Woodrow Wilson Fellows serve on the faculties of virtually every college and university in the United States and Canada.

Transition. Richard W. Couper, current president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, pays homage to his predecessor, Hans Rosenhaupt, for having made the most of the golden opportunity that existed in the "salad days," and for having the courage to reconstitute the organization in the lean times that followed the Ford Foundation decision in 1971 not to continue the funding.

"He did a superb job in conceptualizing and organizing," Mr. Couper says. "His genius and that of the people he recruited made the organization an enormously successful influence in the history of higher education. He also was in the forefront of those who had profound concerns for minorities in higher education."

Mr. Couper succeeded Mr. Rosenhaupt as president in 1981. He came to Princeton after 10 years as the first full-time president and chief executive officer of the New York Public Library, two years as deputy commissioner for higher education in the state of New York, and seven years in the upper administration echelons at Hamilton College, his alma mater. He is a calm and genial man of 61 who sits on many boards and has an early business background in insurance and real estate.

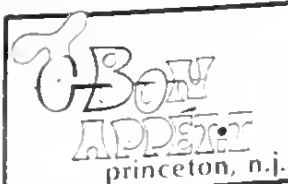

By 1981, the Woodrow Wilson Foundation had been transformed from a program with the single purpose of identifying the brightest and best and encouraging them in a life of teaching and scholarship, to an organization that focuses on improving the quality of teachers and teaching. Its funds come from many sources, not just one, and it carries on several related programs instead of a single dominant one.

Programs. The largest program, in terms of dollars, is the Mellon Fellowships in the Humanities, which Dr. Goheen heads. With a 10-year commitment from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation of $25 million, these fellowships retain some elements of the original program in that they encourage students of outstanding promise to prepare for careers in teaching and scholarship.

"There is always a place for really good people in college teaching," Mr. Couper asserts. Moreover, as the "tenure" bulge works its way through the system, and as the children of parents born in the post-World War II baby boom approach college age, it will be imperative to have enough qualified teachers ready to teach in the 1990's.

The intention of the Mellon program is to award 100-125 "portable" scholarships annually — portable to the graduate school of the applicant's choice and tenable for as many as three years. The selection of what the Foundation calls the second "cohort" has recently been made.

Dissertation Grants. Similar, in that they facilitate graduate study, are the Charlotte W. Newcombe Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships, inaugurated in 1981 to "encourage original and significant study of ethical and religious values in all areas of human endeavor." Forty-seven fellowships at $8,000 each have been awarded for 1984-85.

Then there are the research grants in women's studies, designed to encourage research and writing on women in history, literature and society. Developed by Judith Pinch, who has been with the Woodrow Wilson Foundation since 1959, these grants have been awarded to doctoral candidates since 1974. They were awarded for a wide range of subject matter to 18 doctoral candidates — men and women — in 1984.

Robert F. Goheen
Identifying the Best

Another program developed by Mrs. Pinch is the Visiting Fellows Program which brings to college campuses individuals "of consequence and ability" from business, public service, the cultural community and the professions for a week of mingling with students and faculty.

Established in 1973, the program attempts to combat the narrow vocationalism currently in vogue by breaking down the barriers between the academic and non-academic worlds. Each year, at some 50 institutions, approximately 50 Visiting Fellows spend time giving students an idea of how their education relates to the world outside college. In the process, they are apt to address matters of ethics and values as they relate to their own work.

Another program is an outgrowth of Mr. Rosenhaupt's concern that there were few blacks and minorities who were winning Woodrow Wilson Fellowships. Originally this program took black Woodrow Wilson Fellows and placed them in black colleges to encourage students to enter teaching. But it became clear that there was no shortage of good teachers — rather there was a need for better management at colleges serving minority and disadvantaged students.

Young men and women, usually black, with MBA's or equivalent degrees, are recruited from major universities and placed at participating colleges as administrative interns, assisting in public relations, development/fundraising, and computerizing certain functions.

Institutes. A different way of approaching improving the quality of teaching is represented in the various institutes run by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation which Mrs. Pinch describes as faculty development programs. The first took place in July, 1980, and was concerned with the place of women in American history. Funded by a National Endowment for the Humanities grant and held on the Princeton campus, it involved 25 college history teachers chosen in a national application.

Out of it came a curriculum guide for American history teachers: "Women's Place in the History Books: Her Story: 1620-1980." Out of it came ideas for other institutes.

The first represented a departure from previous Woodrow Wilson Foundation focus, in that it was for secondary school chemistry teachers. The purpose was to "reinvigorate a group of Chambers Streets. The front entrance overlooks the big student interest in chemistry." Top college chemistry teachers with a concern for pre-college education were recruited to lead the institute, which has brought 50 selected high school chemistry teachers to the Princeton Woodrow Wilson National campus each summer since 1982.

Nevertheless, Mr. Couper is more ideal location for the teachers to the Princeton Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation than Princeton," he says, citing the "helpful interchanges" with the University, ETS, the Institute for Advanced Study and the Carnegie Foundation for Higher Education. He sees his job as being a "presence" for the Foundation, enhancing the visibility the past month: the math and chemistry institutes involving 50 secondary school teachers each, and one called "Global Interdependence and New Jersey Education," with 30 participants, all potential teachers presently studying at New Jersey colleges and universities.

Earlier in the summer, there was still another institute, this one called "Workshop on Interpreting the Humanities," an attempt to counter declining enrollment and strengthen teaching in the humanities. According to Mrs. Pinch, institutes don't end with the departure of participants from the campus. The conclusions and new curricula that are arrived at as part of the institute are later published and distributed widely.

Then too, seed money is given to participants who wish to replicate the institute among the colleagues in their home state. So the ripple effect extends far beyond those who actually attend, Mrs. Pinch says.

Future Programs. A physics institute may join the math and chemistry institutes, if a source of funding is found. Mr. Couper and Mrs. Pinch also would like to see a program that addresses how word processors help one to write. Mr. Couper would like to see a program that "rejuvenates" college librarians in the way the present institutes bolster teachers.

And another member of the 16-person staff, Judy Himes, is interested in devising a program that would address the fact that very few Hispanics continue their education beyond the AB level. Each program officer is also fund raiser for that particular project.

Mr. Couper talks about "the blessedness and cursedness" of having no funded endowment. "Blessedness in that you have to justify what you are doing, but the other side of the coin is you can be so wrapped up in raising the necessary funds you neglect all you can be doing programmatically." Although a small staff with experience and ties in the academic community can come up again and again with what they perceive as real needs, the sale of a particular program to a funding source is as difficult as it has ever been, he says.

In these changing times, he sees a challenge in keeping a program "vital" for a long time. For the past seven years, the Foundation has occupied a small building halfway between John and

POST 76 LOOKS AHEAD

To Next Year. With a chance to determine whether Hamilton would repeat as champions of the Mercer County American Legion League, Princeton Post 76 fell short in its final game of the season last week, losing to Hamilton, 5-3. Princeton ended its 27-game season with an 11-16 record.

In defeating Princeton, Hamilton and Ewing finished the regular season in a dead heat, each fashioning 20-7 records. In a playoff for the league title the next day, Ewing unleashed a 14-hit attack that included four homers and crushed Hamilton, 17-5.

The Legion championship was Ewing's first since 1973 and earned Post 314 an automatic trip to this week's New Jersey American Legion Tournament. They will oppose the Cumberland County champions Thursday at 5 at Mercer Park in the opening round of the state tournament.

Hamilton, meanwhile, will engage in a double elimination playoff involving Hopewell, Broad Street Park and Bordentown to determine the second and last team from Mercer County that will participate in the state tourney.

As for Post 76, its season is over — earlier than manager Larry Bender had hoped. The 76ers failed to achieve any of their three pre-season goals: play .500 ball or better, make the playoffs and, once in the playoffs, advance to the state tournament.

Next year will be a banner year for the Princeton team, predicts Bender. "If we don't win 20 games, I'll be disappointed."

From its 18-member squad, Post 76 loses only five players: Jason Petrone, and Mickey Carnevale, who played on the Princeton High School nine this spring, and Jim Taylor, Jay Villani and pitcher Bill Feus.

Bender has three tested pitchers returning — Dave Arendas, Mike Walker and Scott Pierson — around whom he hopes to build a contender next year.

"We'll try to improve over the winter," said Bender. "I kind of figure next year and the following year should be ours. I'd say the way it looks we may go into it next summer as the pre-season favorite. The kids know it, too."

In contrast, this year's top teams lose heavily, Bender stated. Ewing, he said, will lose 13 players from its squad. Hamilton will lose its whole pitching staff, he added, while Hopewell and Bordentown will lose more than half of their squads and Broad Street Park will lose its top pitchers.

"That's why a lot of the teams came into this season stacked," observed Bender. "It'll be our turn next year."

This year, aside from a few isolated bright moments, the 76ers struggled, particularly in the field where they were guilty, insisted Bender, of too many mistakes — base-running errors and errors of omission and commission on the field.

"When they played well, they were good. They could beat the best," said Bender. "When they played badly they were worse than the worst."

Bender is banking heavily that a solid pitching staff, a more experienced team and

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Here's the story of one of the most amazing batting records ever made in big league baseball. As you know, it's unusual for anybody ever to hit over 400 for one season in the majors. But, in one incredible period of years, Rogers Hornsby once averaged over .400 for FIVE STRAIGHT SEASONS. Hornsby batted .397 in 1921. Then he hit .401 in 1922. In 1923, he hit .384. He batted .424 in 1924. And, he hit .403 in 1925. That figures out to a 5-year average of .402 — a record never approached by anyone else in big league history.

I bet you didn't know that many health insurance plans for families do not cover children after they reach 19 years old.

Did you know that one of the new head coaches in the National Football League was once a boxing champion? The new coach of the Minnesota Vikings, Les Steckel, won the national Golden Gloves boxing championship, as a light heavyweight, in 1965.

When was the last time any major league baseball player hit more than 50 home runs in one season? Last man to do it was George Foster who hit 52 homers for the Reds in 1977.

some innate pride will turn Post 76 from an also ran into one of the league's top teams next year.

Post 76 Takes Lead. In its final game with Hamilton at Mercer Park, Princeton almost had Hamilton and Hamilton pitcher Steve Lyons reaching for the panic button before the first inning was over.

Lyons walked the first two batters he faced on eight straight pitches. Walker singled home the game's first run and when Darren Villani followed with a two-run single, Post 76 owned a 3-0. Lyons settled down however and blanked Princeton the rest of the way for his fifth win against one setback.

His only other scare came in the fifth when Taylor and Tom Foltiny stroked singles and advanced on Carnevale's one-out single. Hamilton came up with a key double-play, however, to end the threat.

Hamilton had got back in the game in a hurry, scoring two runs in each of the first two innings. Three hits, including a Pat Larkin triple off Post 76 starter Dave Arendas, and a walk plated two runs in the first, and back-to-back walks in the second followed by a sacrifice bunt and the only error in the game plated two more runs for Hamilton in the second.

Arendas, who was relieved by Taylor in the second, was charged with the loss — his fifth against two wins. Princeton outhit the victors, 6-5.

competition and another gold in the 12 and under open diving where the diver must perform eight dives. She also captured a silver medal in girls 14 and under diving.

Haycock, who flew to Europe immediately after the meet, also won gold medals in the boys 12 and under and boys open competition.

Two more divers from the Nassau Swim Club who finished third to win bronze medals were Landon Jones in the boys eight and under division and John Cummings in the 17 and under boys open competition.

Benjamin Sharlin finished sixth and Giles Hancock seventh in the boys 10 and under to win medals. Cummings also placed sixth in the 17 and under boys.

PLAYOFFS NEAR

For Sweet Jersey Corn. Sweet Jersey Corn is three games away from a perfect season in the Mercer County Women's A Softball League.

The Corn blanked Dot's Girls, 4-0, and defeated Champale, 7-1, last week to boost its current record to 24-0 and its unbeaten streak in league play to 50-0. Three regular season games remain before the playoffs begin.

The Cornsters will next play a doubleheader on Thursday night at Mercer County Park, beginning with Dot's Girls at 8:30 and then opposing Souvenirs at 9:30.

For its final league games, SJC will be without the services of its co-captain and left center fielder Debbie Smyth who has been sidelined with torn ankle ligaments.

Against Dot's last week, winning pitcher Clare Baxter fired a three-hitter. She was supported at the plate by Sandi Hihbs, Beth Muzyka and Doreen Ragazzo who combined for seven hits, one a triple by Ragazzo.

An 18-hit attack enabled Baxter to coast to a win over Champale. Baxter also excelled at the plate where she and Andrea Perrine each had three hits in four appearances. Donna Nicholson, Carol Knapp and Muzyke contributed two hits apiece.

ARENDRT IS NAMED

To U.S. Tennis Team. Fourteen-year-old Nicole Arendt of 8 Monroe Court has been chosen as one of eight top U.S. junior tennis champions to represent the United States in the fourth annual McDonald's International Junior Tennis Challenge to be held August 16-September 3 in Australia.

The American team comes to the tournament as the defending champions for the third straight year.

Nicole, who gained renown last year as a freshman member of the boys varsity tennis team at the Hun School, is a winner of the Rolex Junior Invitational and is ranked 12th among girls 14 and under in the country.

The eight members of the American team that will participate in the highly competitive international tournament were selected from a field of nationally ranked boys and girls aged 12-15 based on their performance in national championships and their high standards of character and sportsmanship.

Director of McDonald's sports marketing, David Dandurand, commented, "Nicole will be exposed to the finest junior tennis competition in the world. More important, however, is the education she will receive from the Australian culture, lifestyle and people."

Jimmy Connors, honorary captain of the U.S. team, added, "These young tennis stars are getting opportunities that I only dreamed about when I was a kid."

The U.S. team will leave from Los Angeles Tuesday and tour four cities with the Australian team, and, for the first time, with a strong German team.

The challenge will be played in Sydney's Hordern Pavillion and will be televised throughout Australia.

VINELAND RACE WON

By Princeton Cyclist. Matt Willis of Princeton won the 5th annual Vineland Criterium, a 30-mile, 40-lap race held on Sunday.

Willis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Willis, 98 Mercer Street, broke free from the pack on the seventh lap and was later joined by three other riders. This group widened its lead to a minute over the rest of the large field, and Willis won the race with a final sprint.

The victory places Willis on top in the Garden State Cup series, a title he won last year in a younger age category. He currently rides for the Sannino-Galli-Vittoria racing team in San Diego, Calif.

BUSINESS

COSTS UP AT BELL

Increased Revenue Asked. Citing inadequate earnings and increased operating and depreciation expenses, New Jersey Bell last week asked the Board of Public Utilities for a $260 million increase in annual revenues.

The company maintained that the presently authorized rate of return (10.27 percent) is inadequate in the face of higher interest rates and a competitive, more risky environment, and requested an increase in this level to 11.33 percent. New Jersey Bell also claimed it will continue to lose revenues from its telephone equipment business that has been divested, and from billing services for AT&T that will end in 1985.

The company announced further that it sought revisions in rates for intrastate toll calls handled by New Jersey Bell that would save customers $27 million a year.

The new toll schedule would result in a six percent reduction in revenues. It would establish a uniform discount of 20 percent for evening rates and 40 percent for night. The initial period for direct distance dialing would be one minute. The revised rate structure would mean increases for some customers and decreases for others.

Customers who spend $25 or more a month for New Jersey Bell-handled direct dialed toll calls within the state would receive a discount of from two to five percent. The company's request includes increases for local services, channel services and operator-assisted services.

Separate Access Rate. Among the major changes in the filing, the company seeks to separate the rates for access to the local telephone system (dial tone) from those for local calling (usage). One statewide rate of $7 per month would be charged for a dial tone line. In addition, three rates would be charged for unlimited local use — $5.40 per month in heavily populated areas, $5.10 per month in areas of medium population concentration, or $4.90 per month in lightly populated areas.

While unlimited local use is the way most customers have traditionally paid for local residence service, the company proposes that three lower-priced options be made available to replace the two measured service offerings currently furnished. The company estimates that this filing would increase the average monthly rate for the highest priced (unlimited) residence service (dial tone and usage) to $12.15 from the current $7.41.

Rates for the new lower priced options would be:

- Moderate Use: $7 for dial tone, plus $3 monthly for $4.80 worth of local calls (approximately 75 local calls of five minutes or less each), with additional local calls of five minutes or less charged at 6.5 cents each. Total statewide rate for Moderate Use — $10, plus additional local call charges.

- Low Use: $7 for dial tone, plus 75 cents monthly for $1.30 worth of local calls (approximately 20 local calls of five minutes or less each), with additional local calls of five minutes or less charged at 6.5 cents each.

- No Use: $7 for dial tone, plus 6.5 cents for each local call of five minutes or less.

The company also proposes to reduce the current allowance of 25 directory assistance calls for residence customers to five calls monthly, the same allowance recently authorized for interstate directory assistance. Calls above the allowance will be charged at 20 cents each, up from 10 cents. The allowance for business customers will be eliminated.

Quarters for Pay Phones. The rate for local calls from coin telephones will be increased to 25 cents from 20 cents. These calls currently cost 25 cents in New York, Pennsylvania, and 17 other states. Rates for operator-handled calls would be increased. In addition, there would be a 50-cent charge for busy line verification and $1.00 for verification and interruption.

The 20-hour cap on selective calling service would be reduced to 10 hours. Rates would not be changed.

The residence and single-line business rate for wiring, jacks and station handling would be $28 for the first 15 minutes of work and $8.35 for each additional 15-minute period. The "time and materials" rate for complex wiring inside businesses with two or more phones will also increase. Service order and line connection charges will also rise.

In announcing the filing, company president Anton J. Campanella noted: "This filing includes a major step in the direction this company has to take — aligning prices for our services more reasonably with their costs."

The average monthly rate for local residence telephone service in New Jersey, including an increase last June of 26 cents, is $7.41 — the lowest rate in the United States. The monthly cost to the company to furnish that service is $17.91, the company reported. Mr. Campanella identified that disparity as "an economic fact of life that can't continue. We don't have the subsidies on the same terms any more so our pricing has to change."

PERSONNEL NOTES

Vera Brabson of Kendall Park has been named corporate secretary of Training House, a Princeton-based consulting and publishing firm specializing in management development and employee training. Mrs. Brabson joined the firm in August, 1978, as secretary to the president. Two years later she became manager of order fulfillment. She was subsequently named production manager, and then publications manager.

Prior to joining Training House, Mrs. Brabson owned and operated a restaurant in Monmouth Junction.

Thomas Moskal has been named vice president and director of internal auditing for Nassau Savings and Loan, Princeton. In this newly created post, he is responsible for organizing and defining audit procedures for the three divisions of the $230 million organization.

Prior to joining Nassau Savings, Mr. Moskal was director of internal auditing at Colonial Savings and Loan Association of Roselle Park, N.J.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

WATERING YOUR TREES IN SUMMER— with Sam DeTuro Woodwinds Associates

Trees, especially weakened ones, need a sufficient supply of water during the summer months. Moisture is essential now in those species that are laying down leaf and flower buds for next year.

In caring for their property, home owners will try to aid their trees by watering during critically dry periods. A tree should be watered out at the dripline or outer crown limit and beyond. This is the place where the feeder roots are, and water is absorbed through these tiny roots. If the soil is baked dry, avoid water runoff from a hose by slightly sprinkling the area first. Gradually the moisture will soak down. Let the hose run slowly a few hours over the entire root area.

Arborists have found that trees respond to injections of water and nutrients into the soil under pressure. According to these tests, such injections break up heavily compacted soil and provide extra water to the root area. Tests also show that needed air is carried deep into the soil and nutrients are added to the tree in the process.

Consider feeding your trees and shrubs in the near future! Call WOODWINDS (924-3500) for all your tree care needs.

Announcing a drastic reduction on the Apple IIe.

Now the world's most popular personal computer comes in a new size—extra small.

Introducing the Apple® IIc Personal Computer. It's a serious computer about as big as a notebook.

By serious, we mean 128K RAM, a full-size keyboard, and all the reliability of the Apple IIe.

It can run literally thousands of the same programs. For business, education, home management, and just plain fun.

Its svelte 7½ pound body houses a built-in disk drive and built-in electronics for printers and modems.

And the IIc comes with everything you need to start computing. Including an RF modulator that turns your TV into a monitor, a power pack and a free 4-disk tutorial.

Of course, there are still lots of reasons to take home an Apple IIe. Like its ability to grow with more peripherals and accessories than any other computer in the world.

Our professional sales staff will help you make the right choice.

They'll also help you apply for an Apple Credit Card. If you qualify, you can take either Apple II home for as little as 10% down.

Which can prevent a drastic reduction in something else. Your cash flow.

OBITUARIES

Mary N. Zink, 580 Lake Drive, died August 1 at her home following a long illness.

Mrs. Zink was born in Boston, Mass., and had lived in Princeton for 25 years. She was educated in Boston and Cambridge, Mass., and the Sorbonne, Paris. Prior to her marriage to Homer R. Zink, she was associated with Life Camps of Time Inc., and later with Children's Friend Society of Boston.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons, David C. Zink and Jonathan F. Zink, both at home.

A memorial service was held at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. Memorial contributions may be made to the Department of Community Health-Hospice, in care of Princeton Medical Center, 253 Witherspoon Street. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Ochran N. Davis, 78, of Franklin Terrace, died August 1 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Carlisle, Pa., Mr. Davis lived in the Princeton community for 40 years. He was a retired head waiter at Cap and Gown Club at Princeton University.

Surviving are two daughters, Carolyn Crawford of East Elmherst, N.Y., and Marion Cuspad of Carlisle, Pa.; a sister, Arlena Nichols of New York, M.Y.; a brother, Edward McEwen of Lambertville; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held from a Trenton funeral home with burial in Cumberland Valley Memorial Cemetery, Carlisle, Pa.

Isabella Bell Murphy, 71, of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico, formerly of Princeton, died July 25 in New Mexico.

A native of Belfast, Ireland, Mrs. Murphy came to Princeton shortly after her birth and lived here until moving to New Mexico in 1956. She was a secretary in the division headquarters of the New Jersey State Police.

Widow of John L. Murphy and daughter of the late Robert T. and Isabella Bell, she is survived by two sisters, Catherine Bell and Mary B. Newhouse, both of Princeton; a brother, Walter W. Bell of Belle Mead; four stepchildren, John L. Murphy Jr. of Orlando, Florida, Don Murphy of West Helena, Arkansas, Thelma Rafats of Flintstone, Maryland, and Sally Bolin of Crossett, Arkansas; and eight grandchildren.

Graveside services will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home.

Joseph Tomarchio, 88, of Pennington Road, Hopewell, died August 5 in Mercer Medical Center.

Mr. Tomarchio was born in Sicily and lived in Hopewell for more than 50 years. A retired landscaper, he was formerly employed by the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman.

Survivors include two sons, Cirino C. Tomarchio of Hopewell and Joseph R. Tomarchio of Washington, D.C.; a daughter, Josephine Cammiso of Ewing; a brother, Mario Tomarchio of Hopewell; and seven grandchildren.

The funeral was to be held Wednesday in St. Alphonsus Church in Hopewell, with burial in the parish cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Hopewell Fire Department Ambulance Corps.

William Hayes, 73, of Johnson Avenue, Lawrenceville, died August 2 in Helene Fuld Medical Center. A retired employee of the Lawrenceville School, he was born in Chase City, Virginia, and served in the Army during World War II.

Survivors include several cousins, nieces, and nephews.

The funeral was held in the First Baptist Church of Eggers Crossing. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery.

RELIGION

BULLETIN NOTES

The Rev. Timothy J. Mulder of the Reformed Church, Bedminster, will be the guest preacher Sunday at the 10 a.m. chancel service at Princeton University Chapel. His sermon topic will be "A Storytelling People."

A native of Michigan, Mr. Mulder is an alumnus of Hope College and Princeton Theological Seminary.

The Griggstown Reformed Church will hold its annual Harvest Home Festival Saturday, August 18, from 4 to 9, rain or shine. The church is on Canal Road, Griggstown.

Food is served and eaten outdoors from a menu featuring hot sausage sandwiches, meatball sandwiches, hamburgers, hot dogs, cole slaw, corn on the cob, peaches and cake and homemade pies. The Blawenburg Band will play and there will be an art contest for children, as well as a hay ride and cartoons.

For shoppers, there will be a fancy stand gift shop, a white elephant table, a plant shop, and old and new book table, harvest table and a bake table. All are welcome.

TOWHEE FARM - RIVER ROAD

A country estate just minutes from Princeton in nearby Montgomery Township. Twenty-two beautiful acres provide a setting for a large traditional colonial and all the amenities for truly gracious country living. Four tall chimneys give promise of the numerous fireplaces in this historic house, part of which dates back to the early 1700's. High ceilings and beautiful woodwork are but two of the features that give charm to its simple elegance. Spacious living areas, 4 or 5 bedrooms, 3 baths plus a delightful apartment complete the main house. A Sylvan pool with brick terrace, tennis court, guest house, barn - garages, a six stall horse barn, orchard and fenced pastures complete the picture. $695,000

HALE STREET

Pennington - a quaint historic town with good schools and good shopping and an ideal place for that first house. On a quiet cul-de-sac, with the convenience of being on one floor, this house offers: entry, living-dining room with cathedral ceiling, kitchen, three bedrooms and bath. Family room and office/study on lower level. $99,000

LINDEN LANE

A good investment whether you rent both sides or live in one with income from the other, this brick duplex centrally located offers two units consisting of living room, dining room and kitchen on first floor, two bedrooms and bath on second $160,000

SKYFIELD DRIVE

Just west of Princeton, on a wooded cul-de-sac with a Princeton address, this charming house of brick and weathered shingle has a personality all its own. The long roofline belies the existence of a second floor which has two bedrooms, each with sitting room, and hall bath. The spacious first floor offers: hall, living room with fireplace, formal dining room, eat-in kitchen, master bedroom and bath, bedroom and hall bath and delightful family room. $215,000

BALCORT DRIVE

So near - it's just a few minutes from town. So far - it enjoys the serenity of the countryside. This sparkling white colonial, big and beautiful, is perfect for a growing family. Inviting center hall with flagstone floor, powder room, gracious living room with fireplace, formal dining room, modern eat-in kitchen, den or office, family room with second fireplace opening to deck overlooking nature's landscaping of tall trees and boulders. Four bedrooms and two baths on second floor. Full basement and two car garage $290,000

HUN ROAD

A gently sloping hillside in Edgerstoune allows this attractive one floor house to have a lower level above ground. On street level the foyer opens to a spacious 30 foot living/dining room with fireplace, a wall of bookshelves and a windowed wall overlooking the wooded rear yard which is bordered by historic Stony Brook. Two corner bedrooms, two baths and the kitchen complete the main floor. Three bedrooms and bath and family room on the lower level $250,000

HEATHCOTE FARM

For Sale - One of the most desirable of the four condominium units in this unique converted mansion near Kingston. Apartment A consists of two large high-ceilinged living rooms, both with fireplaces, spacious bedroom with adjoining study or dressing area, contemporary kitchen with adjoining laundry area. Full new bath, plus powder room. Outside, fenced court yard and lovely raised terrace overlook sweeping lawns and 50 acres of never to be built on State conservation land. Individual heating and air conditioning. Swimming pool and five acres of exquisite grounds. All within walking distance of New York buses and Kingston.

$217,500

IN HISTORIC GRIGGSTOWN

Near the Canal is an early 1700's farmhouse with later additions. A wide front to back hallway separates the living room and study from the dining room and kitchen. Six bedrooms, three full baths, new bathrooms, a fully floored attic, a flagstone terrace 20 x 70, three fireplaces and handsome wood moldings. This gem could house a large family.

$225,000

VAN DYKE ROAD

An Historic Colonial privately situated on almost three high acres yet located in the Snowden Lane area of Princeton Township just three to five minutes from schools, shopping and recreation. Built about 1800 in the Federal style the floor plan includes a through center hall, well proportioned square living room, a study or family room with adjoining screen porch, dining room with chair rail and antique corner cupboard, modern kitchen with adjoining breakfast room, and separate laundry. Upstairs five bedrooms, three baths, plus two renovatable bedrooms plus bath on third. Five fireplaces, antique panelling and moldings, wide pine floors. Sweeping lawns, lovely shade trees, stone terraces.

HOPEWELL AREA

An Historic Stone and Clapboard Country House originally built about 1700 with later additions. Now updated with modern kitchen and baths but still retaining charming old features such as a nine foot stone fireplace, two stairways, beamed ceilings, wide pine floors, original glass and stone walls. The main house has seven rooms and 1½ baths including an enclosed entry porch, separate laundry room, step down living room, dining room, study, powder room. Upstairs, master bedroom with dressing room and walk-in closet, plus a second bedroom and full bath. Plus a separate guest house for guests or family with a kitchen-dining room, first floor bedroom and bath plus two bedrooms on second. Swimming pool, large modern storage building, beautiful old shade trees. All on almost four acres.

LAWRENCEVILLE

This picturesque and historic stone house dates from 1760 but has been tastefully updated and enlarged while retaining all the charm of antiquity. A through center hall leads to well proportioned living room, dining room, study and modernized kitchen, all with fireplaces. A more recent addition contains a sitting room with doors to a flagstone terrace, wet bar alcove with counters, dishwasher, and sink, a bedroom and full bath. Upstairs there are three bedrooms, a study, all with fireplaces, and two baths on the second floor plus two more bedrooms and bath on the third floor. Wide pine floors, fine woodwork and hardware. All recently decorated and in beautiful shape. Stone patios, outbuildings, inground Sylvan pool, 2.49 acres.

WEST WINDSOR

This five bedroom home near schools and train shares all our wishes for sunny days when the pool in the large fenced backyard can be enjoyed and, if necessary, the air conditioning can keep the inside comfortable. A living room, dining room, eat-in kitchen, family room with fireplace, bedroom or study, half bath and laundry are on the first floor. Upstairs there are three bedrooms, a full bath, and a master bedroom suite which includes an extra large closet, dressing area, and tile shower bath. A two-car attached garage, a full dry basement and some very nice carpeting add even more to this desirable property.

A FINE GEORGIAN MANOR HOME BUILT FOR FORMER N.J. GOVERNOR WALTER E. EDGE

We are pleased to present for your personal consideration one of Princeton's finest Georgian Manor Homes situated on expansive, beautifully maintained grounds within walking distance of the Town and University.

Built of the finest materials, this elegant home features a spacious sunken living room with double French doors, a dramatic curved staircase, a library with hand-rubbed cherry cabinets and bookcases, and a graciously proportioned formal dining room with hand-carved marble fireplace from France. The floor plan is classic Georgian with spacious rooms off a central foyer, worthy of a statesman's penchant for formal entertaining.

The property includes a lovely circular swimming pool and a guest or pool house in the same Georgian style as the main house.

There are 3.50 beautifully landscaped acres with terraces and formal gardens, brick garden walls and iron gates. A 1.35 acre sub-divided building lot lies to the right of the main house.

All in all, a beautifully maintained, tastefully decorated estate in an incomparable Princeton location.

new face
in town

We're coming to Princeton—Thomas Cook Travelers Cheques—the company who invented the concept of the travelers cheque over a century ago.

Thomas Cook is enjoying the success that results from getting there first with an important idea. Our growth—plus a determination to maintain market leadership—has led to a decision to open a state-of-the-art facility in Princeton and introduce "a new face in town." And with us we're bringing a large number of career opportunities offering you a bright future filled with challenges and rewards.

Accounting Clerks

Controlling accounting records, verifying balances, resolving discrepancies, preparing vouchers and correspondence, and contacting agents customers directly are some of the basic responsibilities you will have. One year general accounting experience is mandatory.

General Clerks/Bookkeepers

You will prepare documents for computer input, maintain inventory records, file and handle light bookkeeping.

Telex Operators

You will issue and receive domestic and international telex and FAX messages to/from our Sales and Return Agents. You should be experienced on keyboards with screens, particularly SIDERIAL. The ability to be accurate in a high volume environment is essential.

For all of these positions, we will provide all the necessary training as long as you have a High School diploma or equivalent, are detail oriented, are accurate with numbers and possess good communications skills. These growth-oriented positions offer competitive salaries and excellent benefits packages.

For prompt consideration, either send your resume with salary history, come in to fill out an application between 1PM and 5PM or phone Thomas Cook Travelers Cheques, PTT III, Princeton Meadow Office Complex, Bldg 100, Suite 1H, Plainsboro, NJ 08536. An equal opportunity employer. No agencies please.

HAVE IT YOUR WAY...

There's a wonderful Henderson house in every area of Princeton and its environs. In every price range, in every style. Call one of our offices today to see these ... and more!

WHAT ABOUT LAWRENCEVILLE? IT'S LOVELY!

And this exceptional five-bedroom colonial is a very good buy for today's market! Walk to the village, and just a few miles from Princeton, with a manageable, easy yard with just the right amount of trees, and enjoy this comfortable colonial, as well! It's spacious, light and airy, with a wonderful family kitchen and family room nearby. All the other amenities, of course! Come see for yourself. $159,000

HOW ABOUT A TWO-IN-ONE... FOR OLD AND YOUNG?

An extraordinary situation in Princeton Township. Built 22 years before its time by architects for home-office complex. Exceptional construction, durable, comfortable, inside area opens to flagstone patio. Contemporary design - a free flow of rooms on both levels, two fantastic brick fireplaces, full-glassed and awning windows throughout, kitchen with Glochar range a gourmet's delight. Four bedrooms plus huge studio upstairs, family room with fireplace plus two other spacious rooms for office or flat. Presently occupied as 3 bedroom apartment plus one bedroom flat with office, study/fp, and storage room. Walk to shopping, recreation, schools and University. Asking $195,000

LIKE TO REST ON YOUR LAURELS?

THIS SPLENDID PRINCETON HOUSE WITH A WONDERFUL WING WOULD LET YOU DO JUST THAT. Exciting blend of architecture with a contemporary addition to enhance the enjoyment of living with eight rooms, three full baths - lots of space - angles - built-ins. Two stories with an innovative master suite and fabulous kitchen wing! Everything else you would expect, of course. New Price. $249,500

MARCEL BREUER...IN PRINCETON NEED WE SAY MORE?

Yes, we must because while the master architect put his very special stamp on the basic house, it took two very special people, new to our area, but totally involved in the Breuer philosophy, to take this MOMA house a step beyond! Given the totally secluded spot of almost five acres, they added on, they enlarged, they enlivened - and to this discerning eye, they even improved! The outdoors come in! The artwork is nature itself, in every season, extremely brilliant while at the same time, very restful. The house must be seen. It is really splendid. Do call Peggy Hughes for the particulars!

WHY NOT BUILD IN ELM RIDGE PARK?

QUALITY CONSTRUCTION WITH ALL THE EXTRAS: Brick front colonial with front terrace and three car garage, five bedrooms or four with master suite sitting room, large formal rooms, great kitchen, breakfast nook, central vacuum, intercom, recessed lighting, two fireplaces, four-piece baths, super Roman tub in master bath, all in Elm Ridge Park. Choose all your own finishing touches for winter occupancy. $329,000

A PLUPERFECT PROVINCE HILL RESALE!

Perfection describes this house. Finished beautifully in muted tones with Italian marble entry, hardwood in natural shades throughout the extra large living and dining rooms, fireplace shared by living room and family room, cathedral ceilings and wonderful loft with its own circular staircase, fabulous kitchen with custom center island, spacious master suite with loads of closets, two separate vanity areas, muted tones carried throughout the bedroom wing and baths. Absolute perfection. $310,000

COME TO THE ROLLING HILLS OF CONTEMPORARY LIVING at Bedens Brook

This unique community is where Princeton is moving! Rolling hills, sweeping vistas, peace and tranquility...all near the Bedens Brook Club. Just six miles from Palmer Square with shopping available in nearby Princeton, Rocky Hill, Hopewell and Pennington. Lots of children attending Montgomery schools, as well as the Princeton private ones! Please come and take a look at these wonderful, elegant, major houses with a Henderson agent.

THE MOST FANTASTIC, SWEEPING VIEW IN THE PRINCETON AREA

is the highlight of this "CLASSIC HOME...By Robert Adolph". Just about finished but waiting for the buyer to do some important selections, this house can see and be seen for miles around! Wonderful, traditional materials, spacious rooms, circular staircase, large fireplaces, and so much more throughout the five bedrooms and three and a half baths. It's new and exciting. Please come take a look at it during OPEN HOUSE time on Saturday and Sunday from 1-4 p.m. One of our agents will be there to help you. $475,000

BUY A LOT OR A HOUSE!

ANOTHER "CLASSIC HOME...By Robert Adolph" will be constructed on a high lot with sweeping views on Duncan Lane near Bedens Brook. Provincial in design, possibly of brick construction, but with the spacious rooms, marvelous details and elegant appointments we have come to expect from this outstanding builder, new to the area, and really in demand! The lot itself is $175,000 but the package by Mr. Adolph is $499,000. Please call Florence Dawes to talk about it!

WOULD 9% FINANCING INTEREST YOU?

It's hard to believe that this exceptional contemporary house in one of Princeton's prime residential areas offers just such an opportunity to a qualified buyer, but it's true! The relocating owner is most anxious to talk! Please call to see this gem of a house, affording peace and privacy from today's cares! Situated on over an acre near the Bedens Brook Club and ideal for some lucky couple with a knock-out floor plan, including a bath overlooking the Zen garden. Reduced: $400,000

A SPLENDID CONTEMPORARY SPEAKS FOR ITSELF!

Designed for today's living, elegantly enhanced with natural colors and tones to bring the outdoors in, this extraordinary house enjoys perhaps the very best lot in the Princeton area...two acres of mature trees professionally landscaped with curving drives, beds of buds and a wonderful pool, all at the end of Duncan Drive overlooking the Bedens Brook Golf Course! Absolute heaven. Please call a Henderson agent for the particulars.

(not on actual photograph)

HOW ABOUT AN ESTATE?

A UNIQUE SITUATION on 8 beautiful wooded acres...more land than normally available near a golf club! And a wonderful, "CLASSIC HOME...By Robert Adolph" will be constructed on this choice site. A fieldstone exterior will highlight the traditional elegance of the five-bedroom, 3½ bath floor plan. Please come talk to the builder now to discuss your own personal needs and requirements. This will be a marvelous country estate! $499,000. Irene Ostema will show you the plans.

ROBERT A.M. STERN at COLFAX...

is another dramatic landmark house in the Bedens Brook area! Being built right now by the prestigious firm of L.R. Hunt & Associates, this particular blend of traditional design with classic detail and materials will contain a 38 foot living room, library and many other amenities not available here before! OPEN FOR INSPECTION on Saturdays and Sundays from 1-4 p.m. when a Henderson agent will be available to answer all your questions and give you a full "tour". $525,000
